New District Oil Refinery Rapidly Nearing Completion

Second major oil refinery to be located in Strathcona Municipal District is nearing completion.

Situated on the Clover Bar Highway just outside the city limits, the British-American Oil Company's $7,000,000 plant is about half built, BA officials reported this week.

Construction has begun on almost every unit of the big plant, with some parts—the underground piping, sewers and foundations about 90 per cent completed.

The refinery is scheduled to be in operation next June, and will receive its crude from the local pipeline pumping station. Redwater oil will comprise the majority of the crude.

Most important part of the processing equipment is the big $1,500,000 catalytic cracking unit, which has already arrived on the site.

A railway spur will run to the plant, as the plant's output will be taken off in railway tank cars.

Storage tanks, capable of holding nearly 400,000 barrels of oil, are about half completed.

Who Owns the Soil?

This is a question every serious-minded farmer should ask himself. Men who have paid taxes for years, who have deeds to their farms registered in their own names (but not the "mineral rights") should study the cases of two farmers with land near the Redwater oil fields. J. A. Gaumont and J. W. Brown, of Fort Saskatchewan and Redwater respectively are being hailed into court for removing sand and gravel from their own property!

Two big Calgary companies, not satisfied with swelling oil profits, have obtained an injunction against allowing these two citizens to sell sand and gravel from their farms. The utterly ridiculous proposition that a load of common gravel is the equivalent of a load of precious stones is the excuse given for this bit of petty encroachment.

If the oil companies win out against the farmers, the next step could be to restrain farmers who do not actually own mineral rights from sowing crops and reaping harvests. All crops require food and nourishment from the soil, which is a mineral. Drinking water, for humans and stock is mineral. Why shouldn't the oil companies collect royalties every time a pail of water is hauled out of the well?

Fortunately, this sort of action against farmers who do not own mineral rights, is unusual for Alberta oil companies. But it just goes to show the common man must be everlastingly on guard for his rights.

Call for Arthur Ellis

That stupid goon, Arthur Ellis, the official hangman who depends upon murders and killings for his harvest, is shirking his duties. Joseph Gilbert, condemned murderer, will live most of November instead of only half the month because Ellis is not to be found.

Do our law makers believe that, when Arthur Ellis has been found, and done his ignoble duty, that Gilbert will be the better for the hanging? Will the judge and jury feel better? Will Gilbert's victim, abiding in eternity, be happy because his murderer joins him over on the other side? Will society be happy because Gilbert is out of the way—forever?

This misguided youth of 23 years should be permitted to pay his debt to society by work and labor, under humane conditions, for his natural life. The murdered man cannot be brought back to life because Gilbert is hanged. If allowed to live, Gilbert would be able to do some useful work, behind prison bars where he could be no more a menace to society.

How long will it be before Canada takes the sensible attitude on the punishment of murderers?

Spanking Is Unchristian

A refreshing bit of news comes to us from Winnipeg, where Psychologist Joyce Burns of the University of Manitoba has come out dead-in-earnest against spanking. "Spanking"she warns "has no lasting corrective effect." In plain English, that means you don't make good boys and girls out of bad boys and girls by spanking them. Miss Burns says whipping naughty children arouses resentment in the mind of the child, and puts the parent in the role of a bully.

What Miss Burns says about unruly children is true of unruly nations. It is also true of unruly and criminal adults. What, in effect, we're driving at is that the Christian attitude of forgiveness and helpfulness, whether it be towards children, adults or nations, is the only sound corrective.

It is admittedly hard for us to follow the Master's advice to "return good for evil," at times, but in our dealings with others, it is this New Testament doctrine, instead of the Old Testament maxims of "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth" and "Spare the rod and spoil the child" that will get us the best results in human relations.

The Talk-With-Stalin Idea

By T. W. PUE

The past week-end, according to reports from Tokyo, has brought near-cessation of the Korean war. It was a struggle fomented by the Russians for two principal purposes, as follows:

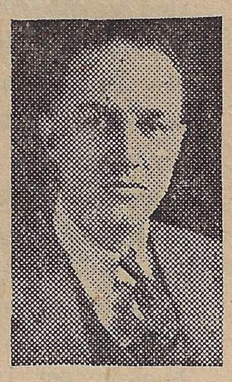

(a) To see if the United Nations would really fight, without involving Russia, and

(b) If we were too morally weak to defend South Korea, to add that much more territory and 25,000,000 more population to the swelling Soviet strength.

A great step forward has been made with all the free nations of the world stopping aggression in Korea, and perhaps for years to come holding back World War III.

Do Business With Stalin?

Many statesmen have tried to do business with Stalin, including Roosevelt and Churchill, but an independent assessment of their work leads one to believe that either Stalin is not honest in his international deliberations, or he hasn't got the dictatorial power credited to him in carrying out his agreements.

T. W. Pue

However, compared to war, talk is cheap, and some prominent political figures are willing to sit down with Stalin across the conference table again to try and resolve our differences. Perhaps, having just lost the Korean war, Uncle Joe will be more pliable. One U.S. leader, Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, has written to Premier Joseph Stalin, of Russia, suggesting a face-to-face meeting in an effort to "stop the drift to war."

We hold Mr. Stassen in high regard but we do not see where there is anything to be gained by a parley between the Russian dictator and an American citizen holding no office and without authority to implement any agreement.

There is the chance that Mr. Stassen will give the Russian leader an excellent opportunity to put over some choice propaganda. After all, is there anybody who thinks that peace can be secured by a conversation with Stalin on an unoffiical basis?

The world needs some overt act from the Russians to persuade everybody that the Soviet Union wants peace and is willing to let other nations live their own lives without the threat of Russian domination. This cannot be established by an interview in Moscow but must be demonstrated in the attitude that Russia shows to her neighboring countries.

Maybe Mr. Stassen thinks that his persuasive powers will lead the Russian dictator to change his policies and "move toward world peace and freedom for mankind." Such a naive conclusion overlooks the simple fact that the Russian people, largely uneducated and somewhat bound by past superstitions, are not yet ready for the freedoms that western nations enjoy.

Scriptural Meditations

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ: By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God."—Romans 5: 1 and 2.

Note and Comment

Freedom of men under government is to to have a standing rule to live by, common to every one of that society and made by the legislative power vested in it; a liberty to follow my own will in all things, when the rule prescribes not, and not to be subject to the inconstant, uncertain unknown, arbitrary will of another man.—Locke.

If you can truthfully say yes to these things, then go ahead and criticize the British Socialist Health Service all you like, because that is what we Britains get. Dear Sir,—I have not tasted a flavorful potato in two years. Most of them are dull, flat and bitter. Potatoes should not be merely carriers for butter and salt; they have a flavor in their own right. Potato consumption would increase enormously if more attention were paid to their flavor instead of the condition of the skin.

Found Us Nervous

Dear Sir,—What's wrong with you down-under people anyway? I was in Edmonton for a year and met very few friends. I came across all types of society, but they all seemed to have some ailment to be eliminated, as the price of friendship. They wanted to turn me into a loan office, a baby sitter, a lonely hearts editor, a marriage counsellor, a morale booster and a pawn shop. Isn't there anybody living there without a care in the world?

Dear Sir,—I just came across an old issue of your paper where some guy in Whitecourt says he hates women. He probably loves them just as much as the rest of us, but doesn't know how to handle them. Never let a woman think she can boss you. Marry her first—then show her who's boss. If mild words of persuasion don't work a little paddling with her across your knees is bound to do the trick. These women haters are really only sissies, who don't know how to handle women and are afraid of them.

Albertan Spark S. C. Convention in Regina

A new Social Credit plan presented by Albertans for curing the country's ills came for consideration last week by the national convention of the party meeting in Regina.

The new Social Credit manifesto had already been approved by the national council of the Social Credit Association of Canada and close to 100 delegates were on hand during the convention to consider it.

The manifesto stated that the objectives of Social Credit were "designed to eliminate the abuses of capitalism and to give all people greater individual freedom and a higher standard of living."

The party aimed to establish a national economy based on individual enterprise and to work for adoption of a sound and scientific basis for international goodwill and peace, the manifesto said.

The national economy proposed by the party would provide for:

1. Abundant production of all wanted goods and efficient and equitable distribution of total production.

2. Elimination of booms and depressions and maximum of opportunity for every individual to engage in gainful employment.

3. Assurance that each individual would receive an equitable share of the aggregate financial credit of the nation.

Solon Low, national Social Credit leader, told the convention he did not believe there would be any war for many years if Russia did not start one before October, 1951.

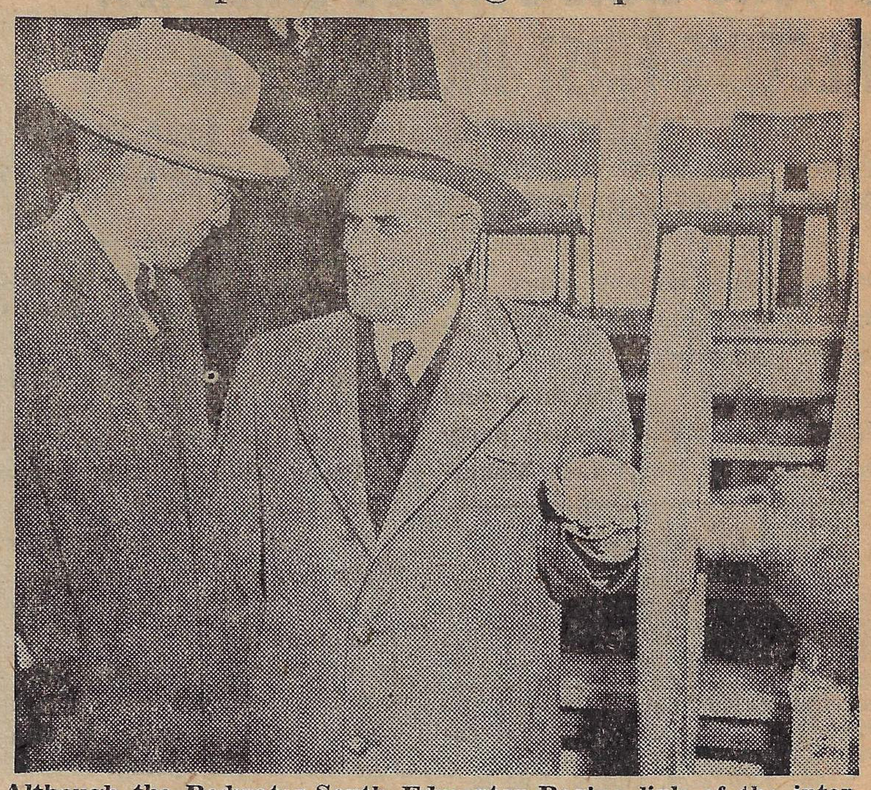

Canada and the other Western powers must not relax following victory in Korea but must build up defences as a deterrent to Communism, Low said.

The most critical region was Western Europe, he said. "The Western powers are determined to send a very substantial force into Western Europe at the earliest possible moment."

Low attacked Canada's "middle-of-the-road" course at the United Nations. "Canadian delegates insist on taking the middle-of-the-road where everyone gets run over," he said.

He called on the country to stop compromising its principles and assert itself at the U.N.

Oil Pipeline Nearing Completion

Liberals Name Candidate For Olds Bye-election

Delegates to the Liberal nominating convention for the Olds bye-election on Wednesday, Oct. 18, expressed through their resolutions general dissatisfaction with the present Alberta government.

Similar dissatisfaction exists throughout the entire Olds constituency and centres mainly around the government's oil and road policies, and the rising costs of municipal administration and education.

The convention was attended by 41 enthusiastic delegates, and despite poor road conditions almost all polls were represented by the one delegate allowed for most.

Martin Winther, a long-time resident from the Huxley district, will be the Liberal candidate in the bye-election. Mr. Winther is a large-scale farmer, well versed in educational and municipal problems through his experience on the Ghost Pine municipal council, and through his membership for the past six years on the Stettler Division School Board. Born in Denmark, he has resided in the Huxley area since 1916. His election to the legislature would ensure the people of Olds constituency of representation by a man with first-hand knowledge of all rural problems.

The convention was attended by J. Harper Prowse, Provincial Liberal Leader, who stressed that the desire of the people of the constituency for a change in government policy in municipal matters could best be expressed by the election to the legislature of another opposition member, qualified to give constructive criticism. He said he intended to ask the Premier to state before election day whether or not the partly completed road west of Olds would be finished no matter who won the seat .He wondered if it might not be something the government was holding out as a 'bribe.'

Hugh John MacDonald, Liberal MLA from Calgary was also present. A growth in Liberal strength in the legislature, he said, would give clear indication that people were looking for a change in government.

Mr. Winther won his nomination with an over-all majority over three other nominees—Edward Miller, R. A. MacKinnon and Alex Weir, all from Olds.

The following officers were elected to guide the business of the Olds Liberal Association until the next convention: President, Alex Weir, Olds; vice-president, J. P. Ferguson, Trochu; secretary-treasurer, Ted Miller, Olds.

One resolution passed by the meeting urged the government to require a plebiscite before putting the County Act into force in any area. Another asked for grants covering a much larger per centage of the cost of education. Payment of a two and a half per cent royalty on oil and gas to the owner of surface rights was also advocated. The construction of a good road from Olds to Rumsey was also the subject of a resolution.

SMOKY LAKE SCHOOL CHILDREN RECEIVE FIRST INOCULATION

SMOKY LAKE. — Children of Smoky Lake District received their first innoculation in school, performed by the Smoky Lake Health Officer Dr. N. Edmunds.

Majority of the children received reinforcements since this type of work has been carried on in the past years.

Smoky Lake grades three and four held a little farewell party in honor of Mary Lou Makarenko who has left to attend school in Edmonton. She was presented with a gift.

We have heard that Michael Ukrionelz (former teacher of Smoky Lake) was in the hospital in Peace River where he is now a Commercial Teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Makarenko, Mary Lou and Gregory have left to make their temporary home in Edmonton where Mr. Makarenko is attending University of Alberta. We hope to see them back after the University session is finished in the spring.

A surprise party was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. N. Makarenko at their home. They are planning to return to Smoky Lake after a years stay in the city.

Mr. R. G. Archibald, District Manager of Northern Alberta for the Canadian Oils visited Smoky Lake on business recently.

Jack Jarema and Olga Laschuk were united in marriage last Sunday, October 1 at the Greek Catholic Church at Radway. A reception was held at the bride's parents home, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Laschuk of Barich.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams and Jackie formerly of Texas, U.S.A., now of Winterburn Oil Field visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Romanchuk and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Romanchuk.

Wedding

We wish to announce the marriage of our daughter Mary, to Bernard Romaniuk, on Sunday, Nov. 12 at 1 p.m. in St. Catherine's Church, Lac la Biche. The ceremony to be performed by Father McGrane. A cordial invitation to everyone.

—Mr. and Mrs. Diatel, Lac la Biche, Alta. P 0-28

More Work with Less Effort, at Lower Cost

The ease and convenience of operation are important factors that have not been overlooked in the design of the Allis-Chalmers Model C tractor. The daily greasing chore is a thing of the past on the Model C — not a single grease fitting on it! All friction points operate in sealed, grease-packed reservoirs. Wide front axle has one grease fitting on each front wheel spindle.

The Massey Harris Velvet Ride Seat

Every tractor operator knows the dulling backache of a day in the hard, rigid seat of an ordinary tractor—jolting and jostling over the ruts and bumps on hard, uneven ground.

The velvet ride seat is mounted on a variably rate coil spring and double action hydraulic shock absorber which have the effect of levelling out rough ground to give you a ride "Smooth as velvet." You'll get more work done because you'll feel better while you're doing it. Velvet ride seats can be fitted to any older Massey-Harris model if desired.

Attention! PROFIT-SEEKING LUMBERMEN!

When you're thinking "WHAT KIND OF A HORSE SHOULD I BUY?" you consider the application . . . A RACE HORSE FOR THE TRACK OR A DRAFT HORSE FOR HEAVY WORK.

Likewise with HORSEPOWER: BUY aircraft engines for aeroplanes, automotive engines for cars and trucks . . . they are tops in the field . . . but in a tough production job, get a HEAVY DUTY INDUSTRIAL ENGINE. There's a big difference, and here's why: Just as with horses, the various requirements are so different that each type is developed to provide the ultimate results demanded for the specific application. One master type just won't do all the jobs.

Don't be misled. Don't buy "too little—too light." Saw milling in a tough industrial application. It calls for rugged, heavy duty industrial power . . . Herculean effort . . . Hercules power . . . your "key" to increased profits through maximum continuous production.

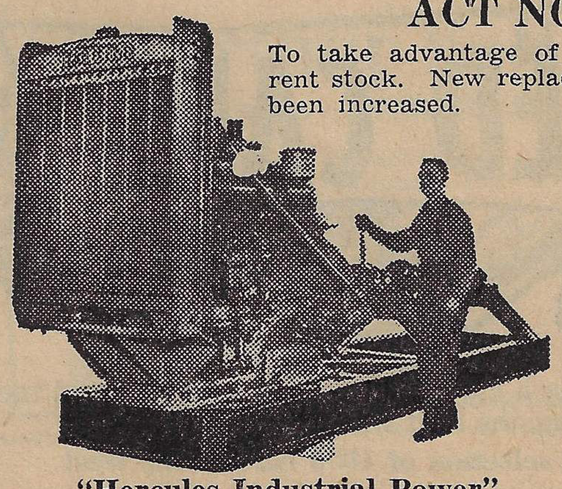

Hercules heavy duty diesel power units consistently "saw out" lumber for an expenditure of 20c or less (operating costs for fuel or oil) per thousand board feet of lumber produced. Can you match this?

Your initial capital investment is a very small proportion of the money you will spend over several operating seasons. If your production is lowered and, or made more costly through insufficient power—too light power—misapplied power . . . then your total loss will far exceed any temporary saving.

You can obtain a DFX series Hercules heavy duty diesel, rated up to 200 h.p. (continuous service at 1,600 R.P.M.) for less money than any comparably rated engine.

LETTER TO LOUISA

'Disgusted Son' Has Naggingest Family

DEAR LOUISA:—I am a boy of sixteen, and I have the naggingest family in the world.

They nag if I sleep late, if I get to meals late, if I take the car, if I leave my clothes on ahe floor or if I eat something out of the ice box. And yet they are always asking me to do errands.

As a matter of fact, I hardly ever do anything they ask me to do if I can get out of it, because they are such an ungrateful lot. If I ever get a job, I am going off somewhere where people appreciate me.

DISGUSTED SON.

Answer:

My dear, you have drawn such a perfect picture of yourself in this letter that I'm sure you will have to change a lot before you will be appreciated by anyone.

Do you wonder that you have to be corrected if, at the age of sixteen, you do nothing but loaf around the house causing lots of unnecessary work for others by your careless ways and then not even trying to make up for it by doing little jobs in return?

All boys and girls go through this 'put upon' period, but you will find a lot more happiness if you will take the chip off your shoulder, and try to see how nice and obliging you can be to the rest o fthe family.

Then you will at least have the pleasure of knowing that when you come in, every one is glad to have you instead of sighing and thinking, 'Here comes more work and ill humor.'

Try to be careful and helpful and see how much happier you will be.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa—I keep house for my daughter and me. We have a small suite and she has a job which gets her home about six in the afternoon. Don't you think she should help with the housework? We are dependent on what she makes, so we cannot afford a maid. She resents it when I ask her to do anything around the house.

MOTHER.

Answer:

Keeping a small apartment for two people is probably not as much work as she does. You admit that she supports you on what she makes and I think it is only fair for you to earn your living by doing your part.

Why is it that mothers never expect their sons who have jobs to come in from work and start into house cleaning, but just because another wage earner in the family happens to wear a skirt, they feel wronged because she doesn't pick up a broom or a dish cloth the minutes she enters the door?

Unless she just wants to help or you get sick, I do not think your daughter should be exepcted to work at home and abroad.

LOUISA.

Boyle Board of Trade Holds Regular Meeting

BOYLE.—Eleven members of the Boyle Board of Trade again discussed the progress made toward acquiring a fire truck for the village at a recent meeting in the Legion hall.

Everyone is keenly interested in this matter and anxious for the fulfillment of an objective toward which the Board of Trade has worked for some years. Mr. Zilinski, one of the committee which conferred with the Municipal Council concerning the purchase of the truck, reported that the Council required a resolution from the Board that the cost should eventually come out of tax monies of Boyle ratepayers. Such a resolution was immediately set up and passed. Mr. Zilinski also reported that the Edmonton Fire Chief had told him they were still waiting for their new equipment and could not give any definite time for its arrival, when they would release the truck purchased from them for Boyle.

A request was heard from the Athletic Association that they be informed what section of and how much land would be allotted for the new rink. After some discussion the decision was that a piece fifteen by twenty rods in the north-west corner of the property be assigned for that purpose and that the Athletic Association be so informed.

The secretary, Mr. Semeniuk, then brought up the matter of incorporation of the Boyle Board of Trade, it being necessary if the organization is to hold title to property, and he was instructed to take the proper steps toward such incorporation.

A fairly lengthy discussion centred around the suggestion that the Warren High School should be enlarged by the addition of another teacher, as it was felt by many that the school was losing students through the program being curtailed because of having only two teachers. The meeting thought that this organization should use its influence to persuade the Divisional Board to increase the staff so that a full program could be taught at Boyle.

The annual meeting of the Boyle Home and School Association took place on Tuesday evening Oct. 3, in the Grade 12 room of the school. The nominating committee report was given by Miss Forbes and the meeting was then left open for any further nominations. As some new nominations were made a ballot was necessary resulting in the election of the following executive:

President, Mr. Joseph Bendetto.

Vice-President, Mrs. Nelson.

Secretary, Mrs. John McNamara.

Treasurer, Mrs. Ben de Levie.

Program Convenor, Mrs. Stanley Harmata.

Lunch Convenor, Mrs. Stanley Walker.

As the new president was not present, the vice-president, Mrs. Nelson, took over from the retiring president, Mrs. Stanley Harmata, who on turning over her duties, called upon the members to stand behind the new executive, as the association was pledged to bring about a better understanding by parents and others interested, of school aims and programs. She said that there was a great deal that could be done by such an organization but that more parents should be encouraged to join and every effort should be made to have the meetings interesting, informative and worthwhile, if the goal was to be reached.

There was then some discussion concerning the need for district nurse at Boyle, but the concensus of opinion was that the new Hospital District of Boyle was doing all that could be done at present toward improving medical and hospital facilities here.

Time Out FOR LAUGHS

What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel.

Young lady motorist: "It's snowing and sleeting and I'd like to buy some chains for my tires."

Grocer: "I'm sorry, miss, we keep only groceries."

Motorist: "How annoying! They told me this was a chain store."

The final test of a gentleman is his respect for those who can be of no possible service to him.

"I'm fed up on that," said the baby as he pointed to his high chair.

Father: "Son, I merely punish you to show my love for you."

Son: "If I were a little bigger, Pop, I'd return your love."

Some people just sit around and wait for their ship to come in, even though they never sent one out.

MILLING AND BAKING QUALITY OF FROSTED WHEAT SAID NOT LOWER THAN USUAL VARIETIES

In spite of some frost damage, No. 4 Northern wheat should prove satisfactory for milling according to a report prepared by the Board of Grain Commissioners' Laboratory.

Some No. 5 wheat may also be milled if markets can be found for low grade flour of darker color and reduced baking strength. No. 6 wheat, which is more heavily frosted and contains more green and immature kernels, will be fit only for feed. These lower grades show the typical properties of frosted wheat established by seven years' research following 1927, the last year in which a heavily frosted crop was harvested in Canada.

The report was presented by Dr. J. A. Anderson, chemist of the Board of Grain Commissioners, at a meeting of the committee on western grain standards held on September 28 in Winnipeg.

Dr. Anderson presented milling data and showed loaves baked from average samples of grades 4, 5 and 6. These grades show increasing percentages of frost damage. An average sample of sound wheat grading No. 2 Northern was used for comparison. Over 3,800 samples of wheat from all parts of western Canada were collected and analysed for the preparation of grade averages. Dr. Anderson emphasized that he dealt with estimates of quality based on data now available. The crop is late, and only a small proportion of it has been threshed and delivered to country elevators. The Laboratory may have to revise its estimates as samples of late harvested wheat are collected and studied.

Differences in the milling quality of the grades are shown in the following table:

Grade	Bu. Wt. Lb.	Flour Yield %	Mill Time Min.
2 Nor.	64.0	72.2	45
4 Nor.	62.5	69.0	55
No. 5	61.2	66.9	65
No. 6	59.5	64.1	70

Bushel weights were tested on wheat cleaned for milling and are thus higher than weights usually reported. Flour yields show the percentages of flour that can be obtained by normal milling methods; the amount decreases with grade, No. 6 yielding 8 per cent less flour than No. 2 Frosted, green, and immature kernels make the lower grades woody and hard to mill; the wheat does not break up readily into flour. These qualities are are shown by the increased time required for milling samples of lower grades. In the commercial mill frosted wheat slows up production and increases flour costs.

JUST FRIENDS, is an apt title for this picture. One of the dozens of junior calf club entries in Ontario fairs, this one is the pride and joy of Jacqueline Schmidt.

Properties for the flour from each grade are shown in the next table:

Grade	Ash, %	Color	Absorption
2 Nor.	.56	100	60.7
4 Nor.	.61	98	64.4
No. 5	.64	93	66.3
No. 6	.67	92	66.7

High ash is undesirable in flour, and flour is bought on specifications stating a maximum ash content. The table shows that ash content goes up as the grade goes down. Color scores are measures of the whiteness of the flour made with a spectrophotometer. While 2 Northern gives a creamy white flour, the lower grades are progressively greyer and browner. These differences in color are easily seen even by untrained persons. In commercial mills bleaching is used to whiten flour milled from sound wheat; but bleaching cannot remove the dull grey color of flour milled from frosted, immature and green kernels. Absorption is a measure of the amount of water required to make a dough suitable for baking. In sound wheat, a reasonably high absorption is desirable; but frosted wheat shows higher absorption than normal because of damage to the grain constituents. The dough absorbs a large amount of water when mixed but cannot hold it during fermentation and later becomes slack and more difficult to handle.

Loaves of bread baked from flour of each grade were shown at the meeting. Dr. Anderson dealt first with the size of the loaves. As each loaf is made from the same weight of flour, a large loaf represents what we commonly call light bread; and a small loaf represents heavy, soggy bread. Strong wheat that will give a large loaf is demanded in England to improve the soft home-grown wheat. Canadian wheat that gives a small loaf will not improve English wheat.

No. 2 Northern of this year's crop gave a loaf of 740cc. This is considerably lower than the 10-year average for the grade which is 785 cc. Loaf sizes for this and the other grades, together with the protein contents of the flour, are given in the following table:

Grade	Loaf size, cc.	Flour Pro., %
2 Nor.	740	12.6
4 Nor.	725	13.1
No. 5	635	12.5
No. 6	575	12.3

The loaves decrease in size as the grade of the wheat drops. In sound wheat, loaf volume is almost invariably directly related to protein content; the higher the protein content, the larger the loaf. This relation does not hold in the above table. No. 2 gives a larger loaf than No. 4 and a much larger loaf than No. 5 though No. 2 has a lower protein than No. 4 and little more protein than No. 5. A smaller loaf than would be expected on a protein basis shows how the frost has damaged the quality of the protein in wheat entering the lower grades.

The darker color and poorer baking quality of the lower grades also shows in the outside appearance of the loaves and in the texture and color of the crumb when the sliced bread is examined. Scores reported in the next table are on a scale with 10 points as a perfect score.

Grade	Outside Appear.	Crumb Texture	Crumb Color
2 Nor.	9.0	7.5	6.5
4 Nor	8.0	6.5	5.0
No. 5	5.0	3.0	3.0
No. 6	3.0	1.0	1.5

No. 2 gives a bold, well shaped loaf, and No. 4 is only slightly inferior in appearance. But No. 5 and No. 6 give poorly shaped loaves, Marked differences occur in crumb color and texture. No. 2 has a close, even texture, and a creamy color. No. 4 loaf has a crumb that is not so close and even and has a greyish tinge. Loaves for No. 5 and No. 6 are progressively poorer. The crumb is coarse and open in texture, and large blow holes in the body of the loaf and just under the crust occur quite frequently. The color of the crumb is unattractive; it has a dirty yellowish brown color, especially in the No. 6 loaf.

SEEKS FINANCE AUTHORITY

Alberta Premier E. C. Manning's main task at the recent Quebec constitutional conference was to press for greater provincial authority in the financial field, according to reports.

The Social Credit government on numerous occasions has had its unique financial bills over-ruled by the Supreme Court, on the grounds that the federal government has sole jurisdiction over the nation's financial affairs. This clause is written into the British North America Act.

Manning recommends rewriting the Canadian constitution rather than merely amending it.

CBC Opera Named Best Radio Program

CBC Opera Company, now in its third season, is becoming one of radio's most popular features. Named as the best music program in the Canadian Radio Awards competition, it's now being heard every Wednesday night. Here, Sir Ernest MacMillan, on behalf of the Awards committee, is seen congratulating producer Terrance Gibbs and conductor Geoffrey Waddington.

Edmonton's CBX Station Ranks As Leading Studio

The growth of the CBC Prairie Region's Alberta studios at Edmonton, in the two years since the opening of new 50,000-watt transmitters in Alberta and Manitoba, has been a striking feature in the general development of Prairie Region broadcasting activity under the guidance of J. R. Finlay, CBC Regional representative.

In charge of the Edmonton office, under Mr. Finlay's general direction, has been Dan E. Cameron, CBC manager for Alberta.

Mr. Cameron is a native of Moose Jaw, a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, and a former school principal.

For some years before going to Edmonton, he headed the CBC's Talks and Educational Department at Prairie Region Headquarters, Winnipeg.

In Alberta, his work in such vivid CBC actualities as the Calgary Stampede and Edmonton Exhibition broadcasts, and his organization of such excellent public service broadcasts as CBX's popular Alberta Memos, have made him known throughout the province.

Alberta's voice, on CBC national and regional networks, and in CBC councils generally, has been heard very emphatically since Mr. Cameron took up his duties at the Alberta capital in 1948.

Oil Men Reported Duped By Thief

MORINVILLE.--Oilfield workers are the victims of a new type of thief here, according to police. Several workers have said to be swindled by a watch 'thief' operating in the district.

According to one oil man, he was approached here by a man who said he was broke and needed money to return home. The confidence man then produced an almost new watch with a bill of sale which said the watch was worth $89. He borrowed $25 off the unwitting worker, saying that he would return later to redeem it. The oil man found out later the watch was worth only about $4.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Christian Living Is Founded on Prayer

Christian living, the way of life for all who seek to walk the Golden Road, is based largely on prayer. Prayer has been defined as 'Conversation with God,' and indeed it is that.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus gave his hearers many directions for living as citizens of the Kingdom and among them, he tells them how to pray. While practically all Christians have memorized the words of what we call "the Lord's Prayer," we do not believe it was Jesus' idea that this prayer was to be used word-for-word, but as a "pattern" for our conversation with God.

This prayer reveals what Jesus taught about the fatherhood of God when he began it, saying, "Our Father." He then goes on to summarize what God's children should ask of their Heavenly Father.

First, we are to pray for the coming of God's kingdom and, in praying thus, we are to place ourstlves in God's hands so that he may use us to help bring in his kingdom of justice, truth and loving-kindness on earth. Then, we are to pray for the necessities of life. "Give us this day our daily bread." Knowing that God provides the basic needs of man, Jesus told his disciples that they should pray for daily food to enable them to enjoy such health, strength and spiritual growth that they might be able to perform the tasks which God had given them to do. Christians are to think of themselves as God's servants and pray day by day for such bread as is needed for health and strength in his service.

Certainly, all of us need to pray for forgiveness. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God," Paul declares and we all need the forgiveness of God for these sins. However, we might point out that there is a condition which must be met before God promises to forgive our sins—we must be willing to forgive those who sin against us. Thus we find that God's forgiveness can come only to those who themselves show a forgiving spirit.

"And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." In praying thus, we are asking for God's moral guidance and deliverance from the temptations that beset us. All of us know what a source of strength prayer can be in a time of testing. We cannot escape situations and circumstances that try our souls, but, with God's help, we can be strong enough to overcome them.

"For Thine is the Kingdom and the power and the glory, forever, Amen." It is reasurring to the children of God to realize that God's kingdom and power and glory are everlasting and that, trusting in him, he is able to give us the victory over sin and death.

No Sleep For Bankers While Dollar Jumping

Bankers are busy these days as they attempt to keep up with the elusive Canadian dollar. Here at the traders' desk of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto, a constant flow of messages from one bank to another keeps the traders informed of the dollar's changes in value, and prevent their branch from getting behind in the overall trading.

New Alberta Railroad Revives Memories of Early Pioneer Days

Memories of warring Indians, peaceful pioneer homesteaders, and the progress of the great iron horse have been revived with the construction of a new 14-mile length of rail track in Alberta. Construction of the track was announced by Mr. Alex Robertson, president and general manager, The Winnipeg Supply and Fuel Company Limited.

The track will be used to move Vesta coal from the Alberta Coal Company's mine on the south bank of the Battle River to Halkirk, where the line connects with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Halkirk is east of Stettler, midway between Hardisty and Drumheller.

"The line," Mr. Robertson said, "will enable this coal to be shipped by rail right from its source rather than be hauled long distance by truck."

"It was extremely interesting to see the modern methods of laying track as compared to the old 'hammer-swinging' days," Mr. Robertson stated.

The Winnipeg Supply and Fuel Company Limited are the exclusive distributors of Vesta Coal.

The coal will bear the brand name "Vesta", the mythological goddess of the hearth and protectress of the household. It was Vesta's altars that were guarded by the Vestal Virgins in ancient Greece and Rome.

Mr. Robertson explained that between 50 and 60 feet of cover had been removed to allow a ten-foot coal seam to be mined.

"A 250-ton-per-hour tipple is now being erected," said Mr. Robertson, "but temporary loading facilities have been arranged so the coal may be shipped immediately."

RETURNS FROM YELLOWKNIFE

McRAE. — William Tkachuk and M. Karpysyn have returned from Yellowknife where they have been working for several months. Both agree that travel and adventure are fine but wages at $1.05 an hour are not as great as it sounds, everything costs too much.

Meals at $3.50 a day. Bunk shacks have hot and cold water, electrict lights, etc. But what's the use of a shower when there isn't any dirt? Rocks, rocks and more rocks without a pound of dirt. Rubber soled shoes are a necessity for walking, otherwise you could break your neck. A farmer who once gets dirt in his ears must find it very hard to adjust himself to a country like that.

Mrs. William Karpysyn has just returned from a three day visit to St. Paul. Bill and Mrs. Donald Thompson motored after her Sunday and report the roads as slightly better.

People of McRae are anxiously awaiting Nick Footz and the road maintainer. Nick is an expert in the business and that is exactly what it will need to get our roads back to normal.

Thompson is anxiously scouring the surrounding country for his span of black geldings that disappeared Saturday. Apparently the plowing operations are too much for the poor beasts.

Martin and Eramus passed through the district with the Yellow truck, escorting a huge load of tile and another maintainer. Too bad they didn't see our roads while in the district.

Threshing is to start again after a month lay off for bad weather, the first moisture of any extent in two years. Metro Toma, Erasmus and Littlechilds have their oats and alfalfa to thresh yet.

Several McRae families motored to Sugden to attend the meeting to discuss the school centralization scheme. A majority opinion in favor of centralization of those from this district was the result of the vote. Some others who attended and were debarred from registering their opinions were not so well satisfied.

WI Report

LAC LA BICHE.—The regular WI meeting was held in the Dr. Swift school Oct. 16 at which an additional eight new members registered.

The following committee reports were: The blind campaign, $83; bingo proceeds, $17.35; the next bingo was set for Nov. 2 at the theatre; the library reported 89 paid up members up to date; the hospital committee reported a very healthy membership for the past month.

The WI will again be on the street in aid of the Canadian Legion and the poppy campaign.

The Red Cross has been approached through the branch for a burnt out family in the Egg Lake district.

Plans are in the making for the WI annual banquet.

Mrs. L. Hall has again organized the Jr. WI club for girls 12 to 18 years of age. It is hoped that mothers of teen-age girls will see the value of this club held every first and third Thursday of each month at 7.30 p.m.

At the close of the meeting the mayor, Dr. Cadzow spoke on the plans which are underway for the water and sewerage system. Also the part each home owner must take in the progress of our town.

Muriel Fischer Wed To P. Derousseau

GRASSLAND. — Miss Muriel Fischer of Grassland became the bride of Mr. Philip Derousseau of Sarail. The wedding took place at the Catholic Church at Donatville, Father Quinn officiating. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Meredith Guy of Grassland.

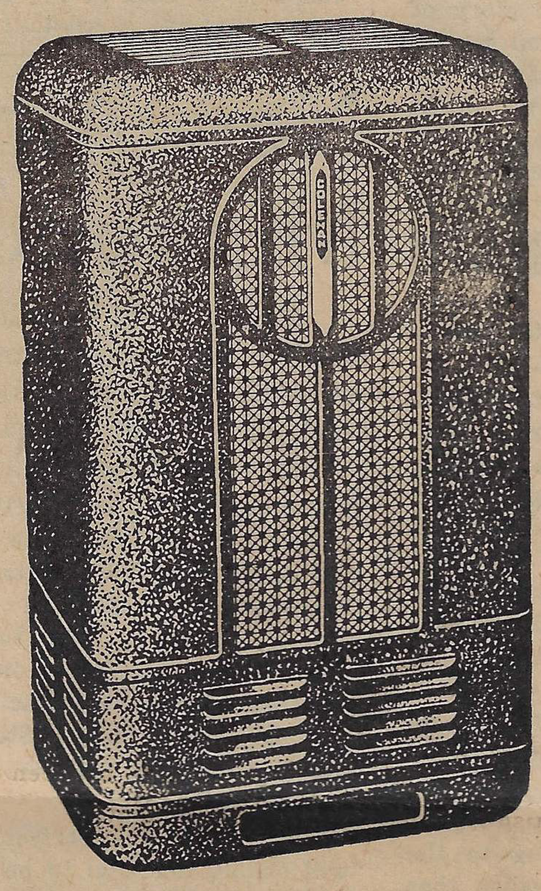

Many attended the service from Grassland including Miss Ries, Mrs. Ray McKenzie, Mrs. Ira McKenzie, Mrs. Hurtubise, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Guy, and Mrs. Sutton. The bride looked very pretty in her dress of white satin.

Many reports have been received in the district of the missing Cessna plane, and search by air and ground parties has been continuous, but without success.

Mrs. Cecile Page of Yellowknife is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ira McKenzie. Mrs. Page landed at the Lac la Biche air port on Wednesday, in a plane piloted by her husband.

Mr. Mike Kanarek has purchased a new tractor.
